I'm a 16 year old person living in Denmark. I'm born in Denmark, but my parents are from Papua New Guinea. I just finished primary school in Denmark and am now considering what my next step should be. I'm fluent in danish.

What educational path would you recommend for me?

Thanks for sharing that — it's great that you're thinking about your future so actively. Since you just finished primary school in Denmark and you're 16, you're probably considering your options for ungdomsuddannelse (youth education), which is the next typical step in the Danish education system after folkeskolen.

There are a few main educational paths you can take, depending on your interests, goals, and learning style. Here's a breakdown of your options:

1. Gymnasiale uddannelser (General Upper Secondary Education)

These are great if you're considering university or higher education in the future.

Options:

- STX (Almen studentereksamen) – Broad academic program with humanities, science, and social science.
- HHX (Højere handelseksamen) – Focus on business, economics, and languages.
- HTX (Højere teknisk eksamen) – Focus on science, technology, and engineering.
- HF (Højere forberedelseseksamen) – A shorter 2-year program, more flexible and practice-oriented, often for students who want a quicker path to further education.

 Recommended if:

- You enjoy academic subjects.
- You're thinking about going to university.
- You like studying and working with theory, analysis, and writing.

2. Erhvervsuddannelser (Vocational Education and Training – EUD)

These combine school with internships and train you for a specific profession.

Examples:

- Electrician
- Carpenter
- Hairdresser
- Healthcare assistant
- Chef

 Recommended if:

- You prefer practical, hands-on learning.
- You want to start working sooner.
- You like learning by doing and earning money during your education (through apprenticeships).

3. Kombinerede forløb / EUX

This is a combination of EUD + Gymnasial – so you can become a skilled worker and get qualifications for higher education.

 Recommended if:

- You want both practical skills and the option to go to university later.
- You're ambitious and willing to work hard – it's more demanding than regular EUD.

Considering your background

Being of Papua New Guinean descent in Denmark is unique and valuable — it can give you a multicultural perspective that's an asset in many fields (like international business, healthcare, education, or politics). If you're interested, you could eventually explore roles where you represent or support multicultural communities.

My advice:

Here are a few reflection questions to help you choose:

1. Do you enjoy school and academic learning?
2. Do you like working with your hands or solving practical problems?
3. Are you thinking about university in the future, or do you want to work sooner?
4. Do you like specific subjects like science, art, languages, or business?

If you want, I can help you answer these questions and suggest a more tailored path.

Final Tip:

You can talk to an ungdomsvejleder (youth counselor) at your school or local kommune. They can guide you based on your strengths and interests — and help you apply.
