

I'm a 16 year old person living in Denmark. I'm born in Denmark, but my parents are from Germany. I just finished primary school in Denmark and am now considering what my next step should be. I'm fluent in danish.
What educational path would you recommend for me?

Thanks for sharing your background — and congrats on finishing primary school! That's a big step. Since you're in Denmark and just finished folkeskole, you're likely considering what to do next in the Danish education system. I'll walk you through your main options and some advice tailored to your situation:

Main Educational Paths After Folkeskole in Denmark

At 16, you typically choose between these main paths:

1. Gymnasiale Uddannelser (General Upper Secondary Education)

This path prepares you for university. Good if you enjoy academic subjects and might want to go to university later.

- STX (Studentereksamen): Broadest academically (humanities, science, social science).
- HHX (Handelsskole): Focus on business, economics, and languages.
- HTX (Teknisk Gymnasium): Focus on science, technology, and IT.
- HF (Højere Forberedelseseksamen): Shorter 2-year option, more flexible, often used by older students or those who want university access without 3 years of gymnasium.

✓ Good fit if:

- You like school-style learning
- You're still figuring out your long-term career
- You're interested in university studies later on

2. Erhvervsuddannelser (Vocational Education and Training - EUD)

This combines school and practical work. You train for a specific job like electrician, carpenter, chef, hairdresser, etc.

✓ Good fit if:

- You want hands-on learning
- You'd like to start working sooner
- You're interested in skilled trades or applied careers

There are also EUX, which combine vocational training with academic subjects so you can keep the door open for university later.

3. International or Bilingual Options

With your German heritage and fluency in Danish, you might consider:

- IB (International Baccalaureate): Taught in English, globally recognized. Available in some Danish schools.
- German schools or international schools (e.g., Sankt Petri Schule in Copenhagen if you're nearby).
- Some gymnasier have German language-focused lines or even offer Abitur equivalents.

✓ Good fit if:

- You want options in both Denmark and Germany later
- You enjoy languages or international environments

4. Efterskole (Optional 1-year School)

You might also consider spending a year at an efterskole, which is a boarding school for 9th or 10th grade. Many focus on personal development, creativity, sports, or special interests.

✓ Good fit if:

- You want time to explore interests before committing
- You want to grow socially and personally

What Should You Choose?

Here's how to start narrowing it down:

🔍 Ask Yourself:

- Do I want a university degree one day?
- Do I enjoy academic learning?
- Do I want to start working earlier?
- Do I have specific career interests already?
- Do I want to keep options open in both Denmark and Germany?

Personalized Recommendations

Given that:

- You're fluent in Danish
- You have a German family background
- You're open-minded and just finished folkeskole

Here are 3 tailored suggestions:

1. STX or HHX Gymnasium

Great if you like broad learning and want a strong foundation. If you're business-minded or like languages, HHX might be ideal (especially with your bilingual background).

2. EUX (Vocational + Academic)

If you want to work with your hands or have a trade in mind but still want access to university later. A great middle ground.

3. Efterskole (for 10th grade)

If you're not 100% sure what to do yet, a year at an efterskole can help you figure things out — especially one that focuses on languages, creativity, or international outlooks.

✨ Final Tip:

Don't stress if you're unsure. In Denmark, the system is very flexible, and it's common to switch paths. You're not locking yourself into anything permanently.

If you'd like, I can also suggest some specific schools or programs in your area if you tell me your region or city in Denmark.
