

I'm a 16 year old person living in Denmark. I'm born in Denmark, but my parents are from Mongolia. I just finished primary school in Denmark and am now considering what my next step should be. I'm fluent in danish.

What educational path would you recommend for me?

Thanks for sharing a bit about yourself — that helps a lot in giving a thoughtful answer. At 16 in Denmark, you've just finished Folkeskole, and now you're at a key crossroads where you choose what kind of upper secondary education to pursue. Since you're fluent in Danish and born here, you have the same educational opportunities as anyone else, and you can shape your future based on your interests, strengths, and goals.

Here's a breakdown of your main options after Folkeskole and some advice based on different paths:

🎓 1. Gymnasiale Uddannelser (General Upper Secondary Education)

These are 2–3-year academic programs that prepare you for university or other higher education.

Main types:

- STX (Alment gymnasium): Broad academic focus – good if you're interested in humanities, social sciences, or natural sciences.
- HHX (Handelsskolen): Focus on business, economics, and languages – ideal if you're interested in business or starting your own company.
- HTX (Teknisk gymnasium): Focus on technology and science – great if you're into IT, engineering, or innovation.
- HF: Shorter (2 years), more practical and flexible – often used as a path to professional education or university for more mature students.

Recommended if:

- You're aiming to go to university.
- You enjoy studying subjects like science, languages, business, or social studies.

🔧 2. Erhvervsuddannelser (Vocational Education and Training - EUD)

This is a more hands-on education that leads directly to a job or skilled trade. You combine school with paid apprenticeships.

Examples of areas:

- Electrician, carpenter, mechanic, chef, healthcare assistant, hairdresser, IT-supporter, etc.

Recommended if:

- You enjoy practical, hands-on work.

- You want to start earning money earlier.
- You're interested in entering the workforce quickly or starting your own business later.

There's also a newer option called EUX, which combines vocational training with subjects from gymnasiet — giving you the chance to go to university later too.

3. Special Programs or Private Schools

You might also consider:

- International education, if you're interested in studying in English or going abroad later.
- Talent programs in STEM, arts, sports, etc., if you have a special passion or skill.
- Mongolian/Danish cultural or language programs, to stay connected to both cultures.

Being of Mongolian background – any benefits?

It's great that you're fluent in Danish, but your cultural background can also be a strength. If you're interested in areas like:

- International business (e.g., trade between EU and Asia),
- Diplomacy, languages, or global development,
- Cultural exchange or community work...

...then learning more about Mongolian language, history, or connections to Central Asia could give you a unique angle later in life.

What to Ask Yourself

To help choose a path, think about:

- Do you want to study more theory or do something practical?
- Do you want to go to university someday, or start working sooner?
- What subjects or activities do you enjoy most?
- Do you want to stay in Denmark or consider studying/working abroad someday?

My Suggestion

Since you're just finishing school and may not be 100% sure what you want long-term, a gymnasial education like STX or HHX is a solid, flexible choice. It gives you more time to grow, figure things out, and keeps university options open.

But if you're already sure that you enjoy working with your hands or want a faster way into a job, an EUX program is a fantastic and underrated path — giving you both practical skills and academic possibilities.

If you tell me a bit more about your interests (like favorite subjects, hobbies, or future goals), I can give you more specific guidance!
